~~Concept on which per diem established.~~

25X1A

~~However~~ Det A was able to arrange for meals @ $1.15 per day, ~~even though they~~ stated in Paragraph 4   162 the rate would most likely result in an increase to the rate shown above. This results in a difference of $1.00 each day in favor of Det A Personal (good management)

3.15
+ 1.00

$ 4.15 X 30 = 124.50

$ 3.15 X 30 = 94.50

* At this time nothing was presented from B for identification incidental trailer costs i.e. paying electricity, heat, etc.

~~The law provides a maximum per diem for each location:~~

Before assuming the above
nets are profit to the individual
the following should be considered. It is a rare occurrence when a family
is located on or near a military installation, hence ~~most~~ ~~most~~ cannot take advantage of "fringe" benefits right fully theirs, and which DD considers a major attraction to service life and a real part of income. For example the following monthly expenditures for my family would not be necessary if they were

with me on an AFB.

Medical	30.00 (1)
Savings on food, gas, etc, at a budgeted rate of $200/month	20.00
Rent	31.00 (2)
Total	81.00

(1) Current medical provisions do not cover any expenses less than $25 and hosp. ins only covers hospital expenses. Therefore cold shots, sore throats, etc which must be treated cannot be handled in an OPC since more is available.

(2) Over a period of 11 years of home ownership my average monthly cost is $34. I currently pay $65 for substandard housing - since it is all that
